Splendid Liner Great Northern Here With Happy Tourist Crowd

DISTINGUISHED MAINLANDERS TAKE
MID-PACIFIC TRIP ON CRACK SHIP

Mill Steamer Shows Great Speed in Face of Bad Weather.
Setting Record from Los Angeles—Brief Visit of Passengers Will Be Full of Entertainment—Stay Likely to Be Somewhat Lengthened

Spending through the gales and rough seas that have stirred up Old Pacific for the past few days, the crack new Hill liner Great Northern early this morning brought a happy and enthusiastic tourist crowd into the harbor for a brief visit to Hawaii's summer land.

Four days 16 hours 43 minutes was the record set by the speedy liner from the port of Los Angeles to anchorage off port. During that time she tore her way against weather that made the steaming very bad, and brought 210 passengers safe to the Mid-Pacific haven in such good time that the performance is conceded by shipping men to be a new record from the coast to Hawaii.

Best previous Pacific speed marks of which there is any authentic record are those of the Siberia, 4 days, 19 hours, 20 minutes, and the Tenyo Maru, 4 days, 18 hours, 50 minutes. The swift Japanese liner, however, covered the distance from Honolulu to San Francisco, which is 200 odd miles less than the distance from San Pedro to Honolulu. The Tenyo's record was made in June, 1908. It was reported, though not established, this morning that the Tenyo has a record of 4 days, 10 hours and some minutes. The palm for speed is, however, handed to the Great Northern.

The Great Northern dropped anchor at 11:30 last night off port. This morning as she steamed majestically into the harbor, towering over the other vessels, her passengers, crowding the decks, were given a view of cloud-wrapped, green-clad hills above the roofs and palm fronds of the city's lower levels. The morning sun struck into the mists and broke through them to smile a beaming welcome, Hawaii's Aloha to the expectant tourists.

Already the visitors were laden with leis, saluted by strains of Hawaiian music, and formally welcomed to the city. So it was that nature and art together combined to greet the Great Northern's passengers and welcome them to Hawaii and to Hawaii's annual Carnival.

Formal Welcome Extended.

The passengers on the Great Northern were bidden "Aloha" before breakfast today off the harbor when Mayor Lane and Supervisor Hollinger, representing the city, A. P. Taylor, representing the Promotion Commit-

WILL PROBE SINKING OF U.S. SHIP

NAVAL ATTACHE AT BERLIN
ORDERED TO INVESTIGATE
GATE DESTRUCTION OF
AMERICAN VESSEL—
SUNK BY MINE OF UN-KNOWN NATIONALITY IS
GERMAN EXPLANATION

[Associated Press by Fed. Wireless.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today ordered Naval Attache Gherardi in Berlin to make an immediate investigation into the destruction of the American steamer Evelyn, which was sunk off Borkum island, in German waters.

Berlin says the ship struck a mine of unknown nationality. Advice now lack details and the actual cause of the sinking is so far difficult to determine.

A later report from Berlin says the Evelyn struck two mines and that one member of the crew was frozen to death in a small boat.

Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee said today he saw no prospect of foreign complications as a result of the Evelyn's destruction. The state department is awaiting information from Ambassador Page at London and Ambassador Gerard at Berlin as to whether the Evelyn was provided with a pilot.

The Evelyn is the first American steamer to be destroyed in the war. It was owned by the Philadelphia and Gulf Steamship Company and was carrying a cargo of cotton. Its crew was saved.

U. S. FACES CRISIS
TO GUARD RIGHTS,
DECLARES TAFT

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Feb. 22.—That American neutrality rights are being seriously threatened by the belligerents and that America is facing a crisis in the preservation of its commerce with those nations, is the opinion of ex-President Taft, expressed in a speech here today. The former president nevertheless delivered a warning against following pride and momentary passion should that crisis demand a solution.

"The entire nation must stand behind President Wilson regardless of European origin or factional affiliations," he declared.

The planting of mines in the open sea and submarine attacks on neutral ships without ascertaining their nationality he called variations from international law.

Mr. Taft defended the sale of ammunition to belligerents as both within our rights as neutrals and expedient. He pointed out that if this country were in a war it would be forced to look abroad for arms and ammunition and the other nations might then retaliate for our embargo. The refusal of sales to belligerents would reduce the home production and endanger the nation's supply in the event of war, he said, and also would encourage enlarged armaments in time of peace.

Praise was voiced for the present administration for its refusal to meddle in the allegations of violations of international law made by the belligerent nations against each other.

The Rev. Michael P. Corcoran, first chaplain of Newark, N. J., climbed a ladder during a fire there and prevented a woman from jumping from the third story window.

The body of Nicholas Woodward, the youth who was lost in the ice floes in the Merrimack river at Newburyport, Mass., while endeavoring to rescue a wounded bird, was recovered.

SCANDINAVIANS IN CONFERENCE ON 'WAR ZONE'

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless.]
LONDON, Eng., Feb. 22.—The Scandinavian governments are conferring on the result of the German submarine warfare. The outcome is being watched closely. The Norwegian freighter Cuba has been sunk as the result of a collision in the North sea. No casualties were reported.

HATS ARE LIFTED AND LUSTY CHEERS RING OUT AS DAHU REGIMENTS PASS

Long Line Is Reviewed by Governor, Army and Navy Officers and Guests—Ad Club's Cheering Section a Feature—Precision of Movement and Formation Is Noteworthy—Carnival Committee Wins Praise for Arrangements for Spectators

UNDER the mild Hawaiian sky of gentle sunlight and fleecy clouds 6000 soldiers marched today, a peaceful but impressive demonstration of Uncle Sam's armed military strength in this western outpost of the Union.

It was a most beautiful exhibition, one which tourists and local citizens alike will remember; perfect in appointment, in order; a parade and a review carried through with correct military precision; the incessant tramp of measured tread, the sweet-toned bugle calls, the playing bands, the flying colors of the various regiments and Old Glory—all combined to bring a thrill to the watching thousands which cannot be forgotten.

Thus was ushered in the magnificent celebration of George Washington's birthday in Honolulu by Uncle Sam and King Carnival, who are working together in perfect harmony to make this one of the best holidays the island of Oahu has ever seen.

Governor Pinkham and Queen Liliuokalani were the central figures in the reviewing stand in front of McKinley high school.

Nothing thrills the heart and stirs the imagination like the sight of marching men, and today's splendid exhibition certainly was no exception to the rule. The line of march must have been several miles long, for, though the soldiers moved at a steady pace with long strides that covered ground rapidly it required more than an hour for the parade to pass the reviewing stand, where sat the governor and the distinguished men of the territory, the army and the navy.

All Honolulu and hundreds of Hawaii's people from the other islands, besides the thousands of tourists come to see our mid-winter feast witnessed the spectacle. From Ala Park to the reviewing stand on Victoria street, on the McKinley high school grounds and back along Beretania street to Kapiolani the thoroughfares were lined with a solid mass of humanity. It was a happy throng such as holidays always create everywhere, with the gay intermingling of all the colors of the rainbow, with the royal yellow and the green, the Carnival combination, predominating. The parade started promptly at the hour of 9:00 but two hours before that the throngs began to gather along King and Victoria streets. Up until that very hour old Jupiter Pluvius continued his mischievous threats of showers but as miraculously as though some superior hand had ordered him to desist, his gathering forces of cumulous clouds broke and scattered; so that throughout the parade a mild, golden sunlight was suffused down upon the marching columns of men and their thousands of admirers.

Review Begins at Ten.

It was just 10 o'clock when the first section swung into Victoria street and advanced toward the reviewing stand. The parade was led by a company of mounted local police, and after them came Maj. Gen. William H. Carter and his staff, in absolutely correct column as the official program said, the world, the wide expanse of infantry tramped up and past the stand, with a perfect heavy tread that seemed to shake the earth. The whole affair moved without a hitch, without
